First curne the spicy

First curne the spicy.

First came the spicy brish on its own burner, the wastress unried up the flame and filled the pot with Chinese cabbage. Then she weet back to the kutchen; for the next five minutes, she weet back to the kutchen; for the next five minutes, she was done, the next five place of food. Before she was done, there were whole shrimp and silled polt, squid, ke acue u m b e r, has does deed quaid eggs, to fix actions, wo kinds of mushshoots and type. Last, she brought out chopped garlie, sediliants and a pot filled with thick barbecue sauce.

Mr. Horn began pushing ingredients into the soup. He mixed barbecue sauce and garlie into the bottom of his bowl and filled it up with the richly laden soup. We are quietly, savoring the different flavors and textures.

After a long time, Mr. Hom looked up, gestured around at the smoke and muste and with said: "First this farianter? And you know, if you'd like to try it, Dragon Village is just oke across the street. The restaurant has fabulous shanghal food."
